Dear Postal Regulatory Commission,

Thank you for your service to our country by managing the backbone of the U.S.A., the United States Postal Service . This country exists with the assistance of the USPS. The USPS delivers invaluable, life-saving medications, documents, and commerce. Please do not allow greed to ruin one of the best institutions upon which our nation depends, and deeply consider creating banks in the post offices to further serve the communities while generating positive income. Finally, and most importantly, it is unconscionable to not utilize the Postal Personnel who are critical frontline workers without whom we cannot function. They keep the states running well. We didn't have problems like we do now until dejoy entered the picture. He needs to go. Keep the USPS. Toss dejoyless. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Rochanne Pucket
